FOUR documentaries set in as many continents to tell stories of life on the edge but that mark every single day of our planet.

SOUTH AMERICA - "The faces of Cochabamba." A journey through poverty, prisons, drug trafficking and drugs which ruin thousands of people every day.

AFRICA - "Ethiopia: the people walking." We discover the real African life. Accompanied by the Missionary Sisters of Christ, we discover the real needs of the people who live like hundreds of years ago. Without water and medical care.

EUROPA - "Romania: land of great little women." From orphanages to the road. The condition of many women and the gypsies who live in garbage dumps. We will get in a mental hospital and met with Maria and other women who will tell us their hard past.

ASIA - "Thailandia and its children"

A format created and directed by Marco Recalchi that, with a new technique and with a very simple language, takes us on a long journey as exciting in real life on our planet.
